CUTTING DOWN THE ESTIMATES

Secretary of Treasury Intends a Policy of Vigorous Retrenchment.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, December 8.—Retrenchment is the keynote in the estimate of expenditures for the executive departments of the government for the fiscal year 1911, embodied in the annual report of Franklin MacVeagh as secretary of the treasury, made public today. This is in line with President Taft's declared policy of greater economy in administering the affairs of the government.The total estimates for 1911 are $671,288,075, which are less by $55-663,091 than the appropriations for 1910 and $94,001,493 less than the estimates for 1910. The total estimated receipts for the current year aggregate $648-000,000 and for 1911 about $672,000,000; leaving an ordinary deficit for the current year of $34,075,620 and for 1911 a surplus of $48,775,449. Adding the payments on account of the Panama Canal and the public debt, the total deficit of the present year becomes $73,075,620 and for 1911 a surplus of $711,925.Secretary MacVeagh, emphasizing the "hard rigidity of the present revenue system, with its recurrent economical agitations and its long intervals of fixity," says it will be necessary to meet these deficits to sell either bonds or certificates of indebtedness.
"In due course," he adds, "it would seem that it must be made practicable to both estimate receipts, with a close approximation to the actual, and to provide for their annual rise or fall by some flexible factors in our annual taxation."Reductions in the present estimates, Mr. MacVeagh declares, result from improved handling of the government work and the postponement of expenditures which can be delayed in an effort to adjust immediate expenses and receipts. He sounds a warning, however, that the reductions in appropriations will be disappointing unless equal attention is given to other important savings.Secretary MacVeagh reviews the organization, or rather lack of organization, of the fiscal responsibilities of the executive and legislative branches of the government and the reorganization thereof now in progress. He voices the hope that there will be "constant progress away from the extreme disorganization of the past" and observes that "even if our country is rich it can not afford to be wholly unscientific in its appropriations."Probably the most important recommendation made by the secretary is that the tax on bank circulation secured by United States bonds hereafter deposited bearing interest higher than 2 per cent, shall be increased in exact proportion to the increase in the rate of interest above two per cent. He advises continuance of the rate of one-half of one per cent for circulation based on two per cent bonds. Mr. MacVeagh says that if the Panama bonds authorized by the law of August 5, 1909, should be issued at three per cent, they would have a much better circulation privilege than the outstanding two per cents, the tax being only one per cent. Mr.
MacVeagh would make the tax on them 1-1/2 per cent; otherwise the already low market value of the 2 per cents would unduly decline.At the same time, Mr. MacVeagh says it is desirable to complete the legislation respecting the new Panama bonds to make them available so as to begin the settlement of the indebtedness to the general fund of the treasury of the Panama Canal. He suggests that if the sale of any of those bonds should produce more cash than the treasury balance needs, some of the two per cents might be bought in the market for the sinking fund, thus keeping the market price of the latter class above par. Declaring that the government has not, and never has had, a two per cent borrowing power, Mr. MacVeagh says it possibly would have been better never to have issued two per cent bonds or bonds at any rate below the government's borrowing power in the open market. He says that as a basis for circulation they have no elasticity; that they are practically all held by the banks as a basis of circulation; and that the banks would suffer so heavy a loss in an attempt to dispose of them that the influence of the situation is consequently decidedly against the retirement of circulation.The issuance of 3 per cent bonds at 1 1/2 says Mr. MacVeagh, would not change in any way the net interest result of its transactions with the banks.
Then again it would provide bonds which investors would want and which would have a broad and wholesome market, aiding materially in increasing the elasticity of the currency.Secretary MacVeagh, discussing the rehabilitation of the customs service in progress as a result of the extensive frauds discovered at the port of New York says:
"It is clear that the influence of local politics and politicians upon the customs service, has been most deleterious, and has promoted that laxity and low tone which prepare and furnish an inviting soil for dishonesty and fraud. Unless the customs service can be released from the payment of political debts and exactions, it will be impossible to have an honest service for any length of time." He says that the work of reorganization is "not complete, not nearly com-plete," but predicts that the necessary proceedings being made "will lead in the end to the establishment of an administration of the customs service that is fit for the government of a great nation."While purposely avoiding, as he says, expression of a preference for any particular plan or system, Mr. MacVeagh strongly urges the need of a retiring pension for aged employees, stating that the United States is the only nation that has no general legal retiring pension for the employees of its civil service.Mr. MacVeagh's only reference to the new corporation tax is a paragraph designed to clear up the question as to what form of return would be adopted. He says, it must be assumed by the department that the single purpose of the law was to tax at one per cent the actual net profits of a corporation, as net profits are understood, and that the term "net income" was used that there might be no confusion.The improved conditions in bank examination by the office of the controller of the currency are noted in the report, but no recommendations are made along this line.Mr. MacVeagh urges the need of a contingent fund—probably $100,000—for his department.Touching briefly on the subject of banking and currency reform, Secretary MacVeagh says: "We must have at least the beginning of a permanent system. At present we have neither an adjustable currency nor trustworthy surplus reserves, two absolutely essential features of any banking system upon which the finances and the commerce of this great nation can securely rest.
To secure these essentials—to speak of no others—the looked-for reform must deal with fundamentals."
